

A RAILROAD MAN'S PRAYER.

The story runs that an old railroad worker was converted, and being present at a meeting at which there were many inquiries, he was asked to lead in prayer. He hesitated a moment and with a trembling but clear resounding voice offered up the following fervent petition: "Oh, Lord, now that I have flagged Thee, lift up my feet from the rough road of life and plant them safely on the deck of the train of salvation. Let me use the safety lamp known as prudence and make all the couplings in the trail with the strong link of love and let my hand lamp be the bible. And Heavenly Father, keep all the switches closed that lead off on the sidings, especially those with a blind end. Oh, Lord, if it be Thy pleasure, have every semaphore block along the line show the white light of hope that I may make the run of life without stopping. And Lord, give us the ten commandments for the schedule; and when I have finished the run on schedule time and pulled into the great dark station of death, may the superintendent of the universe say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, come and sign the pay roll and receive your check for eternal happiness.'"

The new depot is receiving its finishing touches, and the various local officials will soon be domiciled therein. The agent and his force already occupy their rooms, and the old depot is undergoing repairs. Will J. Doering got the contract for lighting the building, and in addition to wiring and hanging lamps in each room, he placed two large gas lamps on the outside, which will illuminate the platform and the approaches to the depot, and throw a bright light over the entire yards.
